ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus and method to determine an addressing mode is disclosed. The method uses one or more unused bits of an address argument of a command as an addressing mode field to determine whether the address argument is a byte address argument or a block address argument.